CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS NUMBER

A. MAURICE LOW,

an Englishman by birth, has for the past twenty years been a resident of Washington. He is a journalist of distinction, and a student of American and foreign politics and social questions.

JAMES G. RANDALL,

Professor of History at Roanoke College, Virginia, received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Chicago. He is a frequent contributor to the technical journals and is a close student of modern historical problems. A recent essay entitled The Newspaper Problem in Its Bearing Upon Military Secrecy During the Civil War is of real historical importance.

MARIE G. KIMBALL

is a young writer on American social history whose contributions to the study of Jefferson and Madame de Staël have already been recognized in the most recent books on these subjects.

THE DUKE OF LITTA-VISCONTI-ARESE,

a Milanese patrician, was born in 1856, and is the principal representative of the ducal branch of the noble family of the Litta, whose ancestry can be traced back to the eleventh century. He writes frequently on agrarian and other matters dealing with economic conditions in Italy, and is a citizen of the world in history and politics.
